Do you mean to create a new product?

GZE can help you to achieve it in terms of design, engineering and material chemistry. GZE can develop a prototype and support you during the first steps of the serial production as well.

Do you mean to improve your product?

GZE can help you to renew it on the material, the form or in mechanical and chemical aspects in order to certify, guarantee and explain it better to your customers.

Do you mean to test your product?

GZE is able to test it from the engineering point of view thanks to complex analysis softwares and from the chemical point of view through accurate laboratory tests.

Do you want a new, personalized material, fitting your own needs?

GZE can develop the new material for you and test its practical application.

We offer consulting services in the following areas, singularly or together:

Industrial design, engineering computation, chemical analysis, laboratory tests, research/integration of new materials and technologies, development of prototypes ready to be mass-produced.

We offer supply of new raw materials and technologies to be customized upon your own requirements.

Our materials and technologies are not standard.

We can adapt them to your specific needs in order to offer you the uniqueness of innovation for your product.
